What you should know about teaching in Georgia

The Code of Ethics for Educators defines the professional behavior of educators in Georgia and serves as a guide to ethical conduct. The Professional Standards Commission (or PSC) has adopted standards that represent the conduct generally accepted by the education profession.

Powerless? Or Powerful?

You have the power to change the future for Georgia's students and for public education. To help you use your vote to make a difference for public education, GAE has pulled together a list of recommended candidates.

10 Suggestions for Effective Activism

by Paul Rogat Loeb Effective activism's a long-haul process, not "save the earth in 30 days." Here are some basic principles of how to be an effective advocate.
